About Wessex Museums Trust

The Wessex Museums Partnership comprises the four museums which best tell the stories of Dorset and Wiltshire from prehistoric times to the present day – Dorset County Museum, Poole Museums, The Salisbury Museum and Wiltshire Museum.

The partnership's ambition is to inspire more people to explore and enjoy the outstanding art and heritage of the region and to understand its significance to their lives. The partnership will share the amazing story of the region in new and exciting ways and make a major contribution to the cultural, social and tourism economies of Dorset and Wiltshire.

The partnership formed the Wessex Museums Trust, a Charitable Incorporated Organisation, in January 2017 to support for the benefit and education of the public the accredited museums in Dorset and Wiltshire.

The Wessex Museums Partnership (and its constituent museums) is an Arts Council England National Portfolio Organisation 2018-22, and as such has an ambitious programme of work to deliver over the next three and a half years.

The role of the board of trustees

To be a Trustee of an organisation is an engaging and fulfilling role. The role of a Trustee is to ensure that the Wessex Museums Trust fulfils its duty to its beneficiaries and delivers on our ambition and values. The most effective boards are ones which benefit from individuals from a diverse range of backgrounds, experiences and skill sets. The Wessex Museums Trust therefore welcomes interested applicants from all parts of the community and with a strong regional connection.

At its simplest, the role of the trustee board is to receive assets from donors, safeguard them and apply them to the charitable purposes of the Wessex Museums Trust. The trustee board must always act in the best interests of the Wessex Museums Trust. The trustee board must act as a group and not as individuals.

ROLE PROFILE: Trustee (Financial Lead)– Wessex Museums Trust

For the Wessex Museums Trust the charity trustees are comprised of:

- Four nominated trustees, one from each of the four partner museums, currently the museum directors.
- Three appointed trustees, including the Chair, Financial lead and one further trustee

The statutory duties of a trustee are:

- To ensure the organisation complies with its governing document - sometimes known as a trust deed, constitution, or articles of association.
- To ensure that the organisation pursues its objectives as defined in its governing document.
- To ensure the organisation applies its resources exclusively in pursuance of its objectives - the charity must not spend money on activities which are not included in its own objectives, no matter how 'charitable' and 'worthwhile' those activities are.
- To contribute actively to the Board of Trustees' role in giving firm strategic direction to the organisation, setting overall policy, defining goals and setting targets and evaluating performance against agreed targets.
- To safeguard the good name and values of the organisation.
- To ensure the effective and efficient administration of the organisation.
- To ensure the financial stability of the organisation.
- To protect and manage the property of the organisation and to ensure the proper investment of the organisation's funds.
- If the organisation employs staff, to appoint the Chief Executive Officer and monitor his or her performance.

In addition with other trustees to hold the charity “in trust” for current and future beneficiaries by:

- Ensuring that the charity has a clear vision, mission and strategic direction and is focused on achieving these.
- Being responsible for the performance of the charity and for ensuring that the charity complies with all legal and regulatory requirements.
- Acting as guardians of the charity's assets, both tangible and intangible, taking all due care over their security, deployment and proper application.
- Ensuring that the charity's governance is of the highest possible standard.

As well as the various statutory duties, any trustee should make full use of any specific skills, knowledge or experience to help the Board make good decisions.
